5. COURTESY PUBLIC HEARINGS:

(a) Shoreline Master Program Update

Chair Kasner opened the courtesy public hearing.

Catherine Drews presented a map of the East Bellevue Community Council shoreline jurisdiction.

David Pyle, Sr. Land Use/Environmental Planner, provided a brief outline of tonight's presentation. He stated that the Bellevue Shoreline Master Program was first adopted in 1974 and updated in 1997. Since that time, the State Department of Ecology adopted revised shoreline master program guidelines in 2003.

Mr. Pyle explained the State Shoreline Management Act objectives, including environmental quality or no net loss of ecological function; preferred water oriented uses and improve opportunity for public access. Bellevue's objectives acknowledge urbanized shoreline conditions; ensure no net loss while still accommodating development; enhance neighborhood livability; recognizes shared responsibility for shoreline protection; protects resources through city resource management practices; and, creates user friendly codes with predictable outcomes.

Mr. Pyle noted that the City is not the final authority in the adoption of a shoreline master program. That authority belongs to the State of Washington.

In response to Mr. Kasner, Ms. Drews stated adoption of a shoreline master program is an iterative process with the Washington State Department of Ecology. Once Council approves and adopts the SMP, it will be forwarded to the Department of Ecology for their review and public process.

Mr. Pyle next reviewed the project's timeline through final adoption by the City Council and its return to Community Council for approval.

Mr. Pyle outlined the East Bellevue Community Council's shoreline jurisdiction and entertained questions.

In response to Mr. Seal, Mr. Pyle discussed water flow from Phantom Lake. The surface water flows through Weowna Park down to Lake Sammamish. The ground water actually flows north through the Lake Hills Greenbelt. The entire system is connected by ground water to Phantom Lake regardless of the existing berm intended to isolate some of the surface water. All of the areas within the East Bellevue Community Council considered shoreline jurisdiction are also wetlands. And, as such, are protected by the Critical Areas regulations. He explained when the need for a shoreline permit would be triggered.

Mr. Pyle continued responding to questions of wetland boundaries, identifying specific area of interest.

In response to Council questions related to public concerns, Mr. Pyle stated no concerns raised related to the East Bellevue wetland areas as there is no change to current regulations. The public concerns voiced centered on lakes outside the East Bellevue jurisdiction.

Ms. Drews stated this matter will return to the Community Council for final consideration in the late fall.

Hearing no further public testimony, there was Community Council consensus to close the courtesy hearing.

6. RESOLUTIONS: None.

7. REPORTS OF CITY COUNCIL, BOARDS, AND COMMISSIONS: None.

8. DEPARTMENT REPORTS:

(a) 2010 U.S. Census Report

Gwen Rousseau provided a brief outline of tonight's presentation, which covered a comparison of the decennial Census, the American Community Survey and other East Bellevue Community Council specific information. The decennial Census occurs once every ten years and reflects true counts, while the American Community Survey is an average of those surveyed (1 in every 15 households) over a five year period. She reviewed East Bellevue's blocks and tracts used for demographic analyses.

From 2000 to 2010 the City of Bellevue's population grew 11.4% through a combination of annexation and new development.

In response to Mr. Kasner, Ms. Rousseau stated Bellevue's population grew at a slower rate in comparison to the state growth rate of 14.1%.

She continued the presentation, noting a 15% growth in housing units resulting in an overall increased vacancy rate. She stated the residential vacancy rates citywide were 9.4% in 2010, up from the 5.3% in 2000.

Responding to Mr. Kasner, Ms. Rousseau stated East Bellevue encompassed 5 census tracks. The entire City is comprised of just over 30 census tracks in all. East Bellevue's population is just under 12,000, nearly 10% of the City's overall population.

Bellevue's under 18 population grew by over 2,800 children or 12%, slightly faster than Bellevue's overall population. She reviewed race and ethnicity data, stating an overall growth in Bellevue's minority population at approximately 40.8% in 2010. In East Bellevue, minority race or ethnicity reached 47% in 2010. She broke down Bellevue's increasingly multi cultural cosmopolitan population by ethnic groups, predominant language spoken in the home, education, income per household and preferred modes of transportation.

There was continued Council discussion related to the statistics presented.

Ms. Rousseau reviewed the timeframe for further release of Census data related to population counts and housing characteristics (i.e. age, tenure, and household types).

Council thanked Ms. Rousseau for her presentation.
