

Lake To Lake

---

Like pearls on a necklace Bellevue's Lake to Lake Greenway Trail captures the very essence of Bellevue's vision of a "City in a Park". The trail connects Lake Sammamish to Lake Washington and is accessible from many parks. A hike along the trail will delight visitors and deepen their sense of appreciation for the City's pristine Park & Open Space System. Meandering through boggy wetlands, towering forests and historic farms the trail explores over 800 acres of parkland. While hiking the trail you might spot great blue herons in Mercer Slough, salmon in Kelsey Creek or possibly deer in Weowna Park.

Walking in Downtown Park

Mercer Slough Nature Park

Trail and Greenway

---

10 Miles estimated

Exploring the Lake to Lake Trail can be done at once or in segments. Between parks the trail follows sidewalks and asphalt pathways. The route is marked by blue City of Bellevue directional bollards.

Kelsey Creek Park

There are restroom facilities at every park along the route except Weowna Park (at the east end of the trail). Enjoy exploring the trail and all it offers.

Birdwatching in the Lake Hills Greenbelt

To reach the trailhead:

P  Winters House Visitor Center in Mercer Slough Nature Park, 2102 Bellevue Way SE

P  Wilburton Hill Park & Bellevue Botanical Garden, 12001 Main St

P  Lake Hills Greenbelt, 15500 SE 16th St

---